Moffat's Vegetable Life Pills and Phenix Bitters

THE universal estimation in which the celebrated Life Pills and Phenix Bitters are held, is satisfactorily demonstrated by the increasing demand for them in every State and section of the Union, and by the voluntary testimoniols to their remarkable efficacy, which are every where offered. It is not less from a decepty gratifying confidence that they are the means of extensive and inestimable good among his afflicted fellow creatures, than from interested considerations, that the proprietor of these pre-eminently successful medicines is desirous of kerping them constantly before the public eye. The sale of every additional hox and bottle is a guarantee that some persons will be relieved from a greater or less degree of suffering from disease, can they be taken in vain. The proprietor has never known or been informed of an instance in which they have failed to do good. In the most obstinate cases of chronic disease, such as chronic dyspepsin, topid liver, rheumatism, asthum, nervous and bitious headache, costiveness, piles, general debility, scrolubous swellings and ulcers, scurvy, salt rheum, and all other chronic affections of the organs and membranes, they effect cures with a rapidity and permanency which few persons would theoretically believe, but to which thousands have testified from happy experience. In colds and coughs, which, if neglected, superinduce the most fatal diseases of the lungs, and indeed the viscera in general, these medicines, it taken but for three or four days, never fail.—Taken at night, they so promote the insensible perspiration, and so relieve the system of febrile action and feculent obstructions, as to produce a most delightful sense of convalescence in the morning and, though the mean sugary them to a sensible dose at the next hour of bed-time will almost invariably effect permanent relief, without further aid. Their effect upon fevers of a more acute and violent kind is not less sure and speedy if taken in proportionable quantity, and persons retiring to bed with inflammations, ho THE universal estimation in which the celebrated Life Pills and

APPRENTICES IN THE NAVY. We happened to be near one of the wharves a day or two since, when a boat was seen in the stream which attracted much attention. The crew looked like sailors in miniature, as in truth they proved to be; for they were the young apprentices from the Java, and so neat and tidy did they seem, that they might readily have been taken for some youngsters who had stolen from school and equipped themselves in the apparel of the sailor

It is plain to see that this system apprenticeship is about to effect a great change in the materiel of the man of war -a change that will be hailed to one of the most important revolutions of modern times. If there was ever a class of men deemed incapable of amendment, were those who, without pride of profession, and as a last resort, shipped on board a man of war. Such men seemed unassailable by the ordinary means of moral attack; they were given over in despair. But there is a means now operating which will accomplish the work. The regular education of young men, from their earliest infancy to manhood, in all the details of senman ship; in the nurture of sound morals, and under the guidance of intelligent and accomplished officers, will bring about the change. These youths will be well skill ed in their profession—a qualification that will claim for them the respect of the oldest or most worthless sailor. They will have become acquainted with the officers, their confidence, and, like them, will feel a professional pride as well as a sense of self respect that will lift them above vicious associations. Known to the commanders, they will be selected as petty officers, and be deemed worthy of confidence and respect. Each will form a nucleus among these who have not enjoyed the same advantages, and while the tone of the morals of the ship will be improved, its discipline will be also pro-

We understand that in order to attain a result so im portant to the discipline of the navy, and so auspicious to its moral and intellectual improvement, the Secretary of the Navy has determined to remodel the receiving ships, and convert them into schools of practice for young landsmen and boys. The system which has heretofore prevailed in these ships had some considerations to recommend it, but it has been felt very sensible that it crushed the spirit of the sailor, and made the service unpopular. It sunk every sentiment of chivalry in the bosom of the young mariner, who, with all the pride of profession about him, was handed over to the dockyard for daily labor, at reduced remuneration. It was a comminging of land and sea service in the case of those who looked to the ocean as their proper element, and the ship as their native home.

Under the new system, which will regard the receiving ship in its proper light as a school of discipline for ing landsmen and boys, the best results will assured ly flow. Much of the practical knowledge of seaman-ship may be learned in post. To handle the guns, to manage the yards, to attain, if we may so speak, the geography and vocabulary of a man of war, may be done on shore. A service of six or eight months will enable an active lad to perform the duties of a sailor well and skilfully, especially if an occasional coasting trip, by way of experiment, were added. Such a policy will insure a constant supply of good seamen to our ships of war, and if the present Secretary of the Navy suc ceeded in establishing the system on a firm and lasting foundation, he will have done more for the real interests of the navy than he could have done by any other act whatever, and will have secured a reputation for himself as lasting as the benefits conferred upon this favorite arm of the public defence.

We lately visited the receiving ship Java, under the command of Captain Charles W. Skinner, and had an opportunity of observing the apprentices. They were about 40 or 50 in number, neatly attired in the garb of a sailor, good-looking, and ranging from twelve to eighteen years of age. We saw the school room appropried to their actions one carronades which they used in their exercises They show great aptitude in acquiring knowledge, and are already catching that esprit du corps so essential to effective organization. If the boys on this station do not turn out worthy and skilful seamen. it will not be the fault of Capt. Skinner, and the intelligent officers of the Java - Norfoll: Beacon.

Cocooneries throughout the country Whatever may be the end of the Morus Multicaulis mania, it is quite certain that immense good will result to the country with regard to the culture and manufac-ture of silk. An individual not in the habit of reading newspapers from the various sections of the Union would be greatly surprised, as well as delighted, were it possible to group before his eye the numerous cocooneties now in operation in the U.S. or even to condense for his perusal, into one brief article, the information that has recently en published in relation to these coconneries. We learn that at Mount Holly, Mr Sangel Haziehorst, Jr., is now engaged in feeding 100,000 worm of the mammoth white kind, the greater portion of which are spinning. The cocoons of such as have finished are described as very superior; and, although Mr. H. has labored under many disadvantages in procuring the leaves, he is fully persuaded of the complete success of the silk business. Scarcely a worm has died and they were matured in the unusually short time of 23 and 24 days. Mr. Joseph White, of the same town, has about 40,000 nearly ready to spin, and many others preparing. The Editor of the Cam-den Mail states, that in that neighborhood, all doubts as to the ultimate success of the silk business are disappearing. He also alludes to a specimen of American silk seen by him at Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, and describes it as very superior. It was manufactured by Messrs R. & H. Carson, of Lancaster. The Salen New Jersey, Banner, mentions that many individuals are raising silk worms in that neighborhood, and esti-mates that about two millions of silk worms will be fed in that county during the present summer. Jones and York, of Salem, are feeding about 80,000 worms. The Germantown Telegraph states, that Mr Maupay, a seedsman at the Rising Sun, has converted his green houses into cocooneries, in which he is feed. ing a million of silk worms. Wm. Lloyd, Esq, at the corner of Broad street and Turner's Lane, has also about 100,000 worms. Mr. Maupay, is said to be trying quite an experiment in the business, by feeding a certain number of worms, separately, on the morus multicaulis, the white mulberry, the black mulberry, and also on the leaves of the Osage apple.

We may add, that P. Physick, Esq., of this city, who has devoted much time and capital to the business, has now in the full tide of successful experiment, one of the most successful cocooneries in the U.S. It is located at Germanto on.

If we turn to the South and South west, we shall find that the matter is also exciting attention in these sections. It is stated in the Danville (Va.) Reporter. that Mr. Morris Pollok, the enterprizing proprietor of a Silk Factory, near Glasgow, in Scotland, is about to establish a Silk Farm near Danville, on which he expects to raise $150,000 worth of the raw material annu ally, to supply his establishment in Scotland. tends to commence operations immediately—the super intendent and several hands from the "old country," having already arrived. Mr. Pollok brought over with him several species of the mulberry, as well as seveeal of the finest varieties of the grape, with which he also intends to experiment in this country. In Georgia, this spirit is also abroad. A great number of persons at Augusta, in that State, have, as we learn from the Augusta Chronicle, planted the morus multicaulis to a greater or less extent, some with the object of speculating in trees, and some with the more delibe rate and protracted purpose of cultivating silk through out. It is stated that so fully satisfied have several in dividuals become of the ultimate success of the enterprice, that they have embarked in the business with a milar feelings with those which actuate a planter, who purchases land and slaves for the purpose of raising cot ton. Among the largest planters of the morus multi caulis tree, Messrs Pheeny & Hutchinson are mentioned. They are said to be thoroughly intimate with the whole business, so far as it has progressed in the United States, and have decided upon the soil of Georgia as the best suited to the purpose; after having visited various sections of the country throughout the Union. They are feeding about 100,000 worms, under the superinten dence of Mr Shaw, a gentleman from Massachusetts Messrs. Plant & Mifflin, of the same city, have also an extensive cocoonery.

They have thus far fed about 300 000 worms, and have already weighed 40 ibs of cocoons. It is added, "that the white mulberry alone was used at this cocoon ery for some time, but they are now using the leaf of the mores multicaulis, which but a short experience sa tisfies them is infinitely preferable to the other, not only because it is easier raised, but because it is more speed: ly gathered and far more nutritious, the worms actually abandoning the white mulberry to feed upon it. A large quantity of their worms now feeding, are of the second crop of this season, and in one week from this time they will have cocoons of the second crop of this season, which is earlier than the first feeding generally commences in the Northern States! They expect to raise fire successive crops by the middle of November!

VOLUME XXXVI .-- No. 17.

This they will be enabled to do from the multicaulis leaves from the cuttings planted this year."

The Augusta Editor thinks that these facts speak volumes in favor of the South over the North, in secution of this business. He mentions three or four other cocooneries in that immediate neighborhood, and states that the experience of all, is universally the same, namely, that "silk is easily and speedily produced, with but little trouble and in abundant quantities." We have thus grouped together a few of the many interesting statements that have reached us on this subject within the last week. We give them without a syllable of comment, being somewhat less sanguine upon all such topics than some of our contemporaries. With perseverance, a knowledge of the subject, and sufficient nationce, time and attention we doubt not that much will be accom-plished. But those who are enthusiasts in the matter, should not forget that even the Cotton Culture was not he work of a single day, week, or senson. The statements we have given are cheering and gratifying in no ordinary degree, and cannot but animate and encourage those who are interested as well in a pecuniary as in a patriotic point of view - Philadelphia Inquirer

More Cocooss - Mr. Lloyd, of Philadelphia, has raised some of a mammoth size and glossy whiteness, counting only 177 to the pound. They were grown from the multicaulis and white mulberry.

THE CAPTURED FISHING VESSELS. Capt. Sturgis, has returned from Yarmouth, whither she went to inquire into the cause of the detention of the fishing vessels by the British authorities. We have been furnished by Capt Sturgis, with the following interesting letter, containing the substance of the testimony in regard to the several cases, as prepared by Mr. Grantham, American Consul for Yarmouth, N. S.
It appears, that of the four schooners captured, one of them, the Magnolia, did not violate the Treaty, by fishing within the prohibited limits; another the La. dependence, did not fish on the forbidden ground, but lent their nets for one night only to some Nova Scotia fishermen, and received in return, a few herrings: a third vessel, the Hart, avoided fishing within the limits rohibited, but her captain and one man assisted a Nova Scotta fisherman in mending nets and salting fish too near to the British territory. How far these acts will be ad-judged trespasses and violations of the treaty stipule. tions, remains to be proved. A fourth vessel, however, the Jaca, it is admitted, violated the treaty, and will undoubtedly be condemned

We hope that the three other vessels will be speedily released, and that in future, our vessels will not tran-scend the British jurisdiction in violation of the treaty If they do, it will be at their peril.

Consulate United States.

Yarmouth, (N. S.) June 18th. 1839 § To Josiau Stergis, Esq., Commander of the American Revenue Cutter Hamilton. Sin:-At your request, I enclose to you an abridged statement of the depositions of the Masters and Crews of the four American fishing schooners, lately seized by the Commander of the British Government vessel "Vic tory," and now lying detained in this port, together with a succinct account of my proceedings upon the applies tion to me for assistance by the masters of these vessels Upon the 27th day of May last application was made to me, as the Consular Agent of the United States at this port, by William Borges, master of the American fishing schooner "Independence," for advice and assistance under the following circumstances:-On Sunday, the 26th day of May last, while lying at anchor in the Tus-ket Islands, near the coast of this Province, the said schooner was boarded and with her cargo and papers seized, and taken possession of by the Commander and part of the crew of the British Government vessel "Victory," for an alleged infraction by the crew of the Inde-pendence, of the treaty between Great Britain and the U.S., and S. J. S. Trovinos for the protection of the British fisheries. The schooner was brought into this port, stripped of her sails and part of the rigging, and the master and crew obliged to leave her. De tions of the master, Wm. Burgess, and of the crew, Ben-jamin Sylvester, Samuel C. Mills, Ezekiri Rurgess, and Samuel Burgess, all of Vinalhaven, in the State of Maine, were taken to the above facts, and also to those which follow. They depose that the schooner Independence, of the burthen of 31 tons or thereab .uts, and belonging to thaven was fitted out and cleared from that the a fishing voyage into the Bay of Fundy, on the 10th day of April last, and that they continued to fish in the Bay, never at any time at a less distance from the coast of Nova Scotia than 15 miles, until about the last of April of the present year, when being in want of water, and it blowing very heavy, they stood in for the coast and achored in the Tusket Islands, where they remained about twenty four hours. At the expiration of that time they again put to sea, and remained upon the fish ing ground until the 25th day of May last, when the Compass having been accidentally broken and there being no other on board, they agott stood in for the coast, intending to make the port of Yarmouth, for the purpose of having the Compass resaired, and of procuring a supply of water; but the wind being adverse and very violent, and the weather thick and hezy, they were un able to make that port, and were obliged to take shelter in the Tusket Islands for the night, at which place they were seized the next day as before mentioned; the mas ter and crew of this vessel deposed most solemnly, that no fish of any kind or description had been taken or caught by them during the present season, or since their departure from part, either in the Tusket Islands or at any distance nearer to the coast of Nova Scotia, or of any of the British possessions in America than 15 miles and that at no one time did they remain at anchor in the said Islands, or at any port on the coast; for a longer space than twenty four hours They, however, admit ted that at the earnest solicitation of an inhabitant of the Tusket Islands, whose name was to thom unknown, they did for one night lend their nets to him, and that they received from him on the following morning a few herrings; this occurred but once and for one night only, they never having remained on the Islands for two con-

Capt Pool, of the American fishing schooner, "Mag nolia," seized at the same time and place, deposed in substance to the same effect as the foregoing, except that they had not lent or parted with their nets. most positively having fished or attempted to catch fish within 15 miles of the coast of this Province, during the present season.

The Magnolia is of the burthen of 37 tons or there abouts, belongs to Vinalhaven, and was fitted out and cleared from that port on a fishing voyage into the Bay of Fundy; she sailed from that port on the 26th day of April last, and was twice into the Tusket Islands for shelter, and for wood and water, during the present sea-Capt Burgess, of the schooner "Java," scknowledged that he and his crew had taken fish in the Islands, and was aware that the fact of his having done so, could be proved against him. He therefore declined to make any effort for relief. The Java was fitted for a fishing voy age into the Bay of Fundy, and belonged to Vinalhaven and she was seized at the same time and place as were These depositions I enclosed to John Morrow, Esq.,

United States Consul at Halifax, for the purpose of using them to assist him in his endeavors to effect the release of the Magnolia, Java, and Hart, on the plea of their having been seized and detained on insufficient ground. The masters of these three last named vessels, by my advice proceeded to Halifax, where they are now await ing the decision of the Government Officers there, whether they will be obliged to contest the legality of the seizures in the Court of Vice Admiralty at that place. I have received no information from thence, that can be depended upon, as to the probable issue of the exertions already made, and now making in behalf of the owners and others interested in these vessels.

The affidavits which have been made to substantiate the legality of their seizures, are first, that of John Mc-Connell, of this place, who deposes, that he did see the crew of the "Java" between the 11th and the 27th days of Mar last, in the Tusket Islands, put their nets into of May last, in the tuesset islands, put their nets into the bont belonging to that vessel, and on the following morning he saw them return with a quantity of fish, which was repeated four or five times during the abovementioned period, and that the skipper of the Java ac knowledged to him that he had taken fish within the prohibited limits, for bait, he further states that on Son-day, the 20th of May last, he saw, on the deck of the Java then lying in the Tusket Islands, a quantity of gurry, which the crew said was from about three quintals of fish caught the day before, and that he saw the master and crew throw the same overboard, being then about two miles from the same overboard, coing then about two miles from Jebogue Point, in Yarmouth.

2d The same person, John McConnell, further deposed that he saw the Magnolia about two weeks previously, when at anchor in the Islands, send her boat away in the evening with nets, and retern again the next morning with fish, which also again took place for several successive days. He further stated that the crew of the Magnolia did about the same time acknowledge that they were then taking fish among the Tusket

Islands, and had before been doing the same.

3d. David McConnell, of Yarmouth, made oath that the skipper of the American schooner Independence

THE stockholders of the Louisa Railroad Company are aware that the last requisition upon the old stock of the suid company was due on the first day of May last. On the first day of August next, legal steps will be taken to coerce the payment of all suns that may then be due upon the stock. It is confidently hoped, that very few may permit this resent to law to be made, as ample time is given, and as punctuality has been the noted characteristic of a large majority of the stockholders of this company.
